What is a tax refund? Everyone in the US pays taxes and most of them end up paying excessive amounts, so the IRS owes people money. When they file their tax return, the IRS pays back the owed amount, and it varies person to person.

Basically, you will be filing a tax return of a random person using their stolen data, also called fullz, and cashing the refund amount coming from the IRS.

There are many ways you can opt for who's return to file and cashout their refund you could scam your neighbour or friends but that would be risky or simply buy fullz off from sites that are selling them or create a tax services on the internet or create fake beautiful girl tinder profile start fake dating some dude online and offer them saying you are tax consultant.

A few pointers :

- Last year, we used to upload W2 forms and then applied the tax returns after that, it has casted this year so don't waste your time on that
- If the fullz info never applied for tax returns last year, then the AGI & IP Pin can be 0
- If they filed last year and you don't have the AGI & IP Pin, your application won't be accepted.
- If your client doesn't work or is on disability, ideally she shouldn't file but you can use my figures to file for her.
- If you don't have her W2 or 1099 and want an easier way to file without going through all this hustle, then use this software to do the job -

The website header includes the FreeTaxUSA logo, the year 2025, and summary statistics: Federal Refund: $18,500 and NJ Refund: $1,941. A navigation bar contains several steps: Personal, Income, Deductions / Credits, Misc, Summary, State, and Final Steps (highlighted in dark blue). The main content area features a large blue envelope icon with a green checkmark and a yellow padlock, with the heading "Congratulations!". Below this, a message states: "You've submitted your 2025 taxes! Now sit back and relax while the IRS processes your return." Two summary boxes are present: one for the "E-FILED Federal Return" with a "$18,500 refund" and a link to "Amend your federal return"; the other for the "NOT E-FILED New Jersey Return" with a "$1,941 refund" and a link to "Continue your NJ return". A blue notification banner at the bottom reads: "New Jersey tax return not purchased. Remember, we can still help you prepare your New Jersey tax return. Go back to the Order Products screen to purchase your New Jersey return."
